

COVID-19 Impact Report

How your support is helping in this crisis

Cameron Clark, York Daily Record

While the COVID-19 pandemic has affected us all, you still stepped up to help those hit hardest. Moms and dads who lost their jobs. Seniors who are homebound and isolated. And kids struggling to get enough to eat.

“We would be struggling with food if we didn’t come to this.”

York County Food Bank is incredibly grateful for your support as we work to ensure everyone has access to nutritious food during this crisis. Families like Amy’s.

Amy is a single mom who has found it harder and harder to provide for her family. Though she’s working through the pandemic, her hours and pay have been cut. She and her sister, also a single mom, have been doing their best to help each other through the difficult times.

Thanks to you, both families were able to recently visit a pop-up drive-thru food distribution and stock up on nutritious food for their children.

“We would be struggling with food if we didn’t come to this,” Amy says.

Your support means the world to families like hers. We can’t thank you enough for your compassion and generosity.

COVID-19 Response: The Numbers

Over the past few months, we have witnessed firsthand how this incredible York community steps up, stands together, and helps when help is needed most.

When schools closed, volunteers and staff transformed empty parking lots into drive-thru lines for students and their families to receive food.

When we began operations out of our Emergency Food Hub, local restaurant workers, government employees, and others stepped forward to help sort, pack, and deliver food.

And even now volunteers and others continue to come together to safely distribute food to those who need it most.

To those determined to serve during one of the most tumultuous times in York County Food Bank's history, we sincerely thank you.

3.5 million meals distributed to people facing hunger

Volunteers donated 5,000+ hours to help us feed York County

To follow our COVID-19 relief efforts, visit us online at yorkfoodbank.org.